So, you do not have to be an experienced user in order to work with this application and understand its features. Upon initialization, you are given two choices: either you perform a computer scan which allows you to get information about what kind of files are deleted or you can press the 'CleanUp' button that automatically performs the cleaning processes without giving you any further details. Itself, the scanning process takes only a few minutes, but during that time you may notice a slight increase in the CPU usage. Delete junk files and speed-up your computer As soon as TVcleaner finishes cleaning your system, you can view a report that contains information about all the deleted files. Several options enable you to create restore points, remove temporary files, Internet Explorer history and cache, cookies and recently used files. Additionally, you can choose not to create restore points if you have other applications that can do that, as well as select which files need to be deleted. Simple yet efficient system cleaner To sum up, TVcleaner is an application that finishes its cleaning tasks efficiently. Although there are a few things that can be improved, such as provide support for more than one browser and clean more than a single hard drive, the application offers you a fast method of cleaning your system of all the unnecessary files stored on your computer. A: You can use WinPeak to clean your system From the Windows Start menu search for WinPeak. In the search results select WinPeak and then click on the Install button.
