Beach Episode 10 Sabo crunches down the sand and screams as he hears the sound of waves hitting the shore. Bashvine broadsides him down the beach and continues to make odd roars every time he takes a breath. As his target continues to run towards him, Sabo uses a plant beast from his right hand to produce something that appears to be a swimming turtle; Sabo throws it toward him like a bowling ball. The thing rolls towards his target, and it reaches him... at the last moment, Sabo throws a ton of sand at the ball. He has the potential of missed as he misses his target. Fruits Lieza pulls up in her helicopter. As her eyes gaze toward the coast line, the captain speaks to her. “Could be a huge surprise... but nevermind, we’ll give it a try.” “Dr. Nero’s trial procedures just aren’t enough to beat the reaction rate of this thing... I’ll just hope that by adding these fruit pills to his standard chemical batteries can make up for the bad guys’ reaction.” “If so, then I’ll definitely make certain to let you know.” With this response, Lieza leaves to use the fruit pills. Alvero bemoans. In the biggest city of the biggest island-nation in the world, they have a massive wall. Alvero glares at it with a serious, troubled expression. “I wonder why we don’t have any trustworthy information about them? Doesn’t it seem that strong to have an organization like that on the loose?” “The progress of our investigation is somewhat different than you’d imagine. One thing that we aren’t making progress in is the revelation of the entire truth of the matter of the island’s original name... What is the name of the country of the original creator of the island? This is all essential information that we have discarded in our plans!” Perfecchio sighs. Under the tower that is standing tall, Jorod resumes. “The Authority exists. Other than that, we didn’t find a shred of proof. As the old saying goes, pure, untainted proof is foolish
